

Hello!

Kirsten and I got our wires crossed yesterday, and so my Wednesday message is here with today's message! Sorry to all those who were waiting for an email about coffee time - it did happen, and will happen next week too, so please save the link below to join for Coffee Time Thursdays in the future.

Jenni

Wednesday's message:

Your worship circle met today and are planning for the weeks and months ahead. If you have any questions, reach out to me, Denise, Rob H, Janis, Marilyn, Charlie, Mary or Gavan. Just a quick reminder that Coffee Time is tomorrow (Thursday) at 10 am. Come to check-in, let us know how you are doing.

Thursday:

Thank you to Mary Laidlaw who is our 3RD biography submitter!

I'd love to hear from you and have your biography, please? See the questions in the document attached.

Though it is raining today, we are reminded that it is the last day for "April Showers bring May flowers", so the rain will definitely cease after today! (HAHAHA!) I LOVE how the rain is brightening up my grass - it is actually turning green! And I love how it is causing the daffodils in the church garden to flourish! Kirsten took the picture attached. So if you are in the neighbourhood for your walk, take a spin around the church to see what's growing. Did you know that Denise has started a grapevine? See if you can find it on your way around: it has a story that only Denise can tell.

So - happy Thursday! Please send in your bios to me at jleslie@kitchissippiuc.com, enjoy the greening of the grass, the buds on the trees, the warmth of your homes and whatever else is giving you hope and joy this day! Blessings, Jenni
