

Good Monday Morning!

As you might have heard yesterday, I am taking a week of study leave, but I don't start it until Friday. I'll be off Sunday the 17th and the following week - the 18th to 22nd. I will be attending the virtual version of The Festival of Homiletics (which I attended in person last year in Minneapolis) - you can take a look at the line up here: <https://www.festivalofhomiletics.com/schedule/>

I am looking into having both the Reading Club on Tuesday and the Coffee Time on Thursday to continue without me. More to come on that.

This is baking Monday! Please see attached recipes from Sian G. - thanks for sharing, Sian! I'm not sure why Spring always makes me want to bake something with lemon and blueberries?

Salmon vodka pasta (3 pages - sorry)

Blueberry and lemon glaze loaf

Banana chocolate chip muffins (My go to)

<https://www.bbcgoodfood.com/user/3791286/recipe/banana-chocolate-chip-muffins>

The Tuesday Reading Club meets tomorrow at 1 pm via Zoom and we are reading and discussing these articles: I will send the Zoom instructions tomorrow.

If you have any questions or concerns or need to chat, please do be in touch?

Blessings,

Jenni