Minister's Message from Rev. Jenni

It is hard to believe that December is right around the corner, and therefore, Advent, and then Christmas! What a weird and wonderful year it has been, would you agree?

I feel as though we have learned so many new words and concepts this year: Covid-19, airborne particles, touch contamination, mask wearing, work-from-home, "click and collect", curbside pickup, social/physical distancing, stay at home, Zoom. Concepts we already knew were resilience, kindness, community, self-care, staying in touch, outdoor walks and visits.

One concept that I think we knew, but not nearly as deeply as we know it now, at the end of 2020 is 'we are all in this together'. I haven't written much about this phrase, because at the beginning, I found it trite and irritating. Not that it was untrue, just that it felt forced. There is a sign in my neighbourhood that says exactly that and I confess my feelings toward it have softened. We ARE all in this together - my faith has always told me that and now the pandemic has reinforced it.

As God's beloved, God has always asked us to look out for one another. God, in Jesus, reminds us to feed the hungry, clothe the naked and give shelter to the homeless. Isn't this taking care of one another? Isn't this about being 'in it together'? Last week's reading re-enforces this: Truly I tell you, just as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to me. (Matthew 25: 31-46).

We are in this together, and we are called to protect one another. Of course, seeing our family for Christmas is exactly what all of us want to do. Sadly, this is not what we are called to do, nor what the pandemic requires of us. While I would love to pack up my car and travel to see my 86 year old mother, my brother, sisters and their families, we will stay home and celebrate: just the three of us and Roxy. We will protect one another by staying away.

It will be a different Advent and Christmas this year, to be sure. Our church buildings will remain closed and access to celebrations will be online. We will do our best to lift one another up, to comfort and to support one another and to celebrate the season for what it still is: it is still Advent. Advent: a time of waiting and watching, a time of waiting on the threshold. Christmas will still happen and will still be meaningful and spirit-filled. Jesus will come again into our hearts and lives anew: to comfort, to challenge, and to remind us of his and our ministry in God's name. We will walk over the threshold of the unknown and walk into a time that might still feel unknown, but we walk with Jesus into this new thing. We walk with God at all times and all places, and our Advent threshold is no different.

My greatest hope for you is that you will continue to rely on your relationship with God this season. I am here to help, virtually, and the church will celebrate in many different ways over this beautiful season.

May you feel strengthened in your faith, may you rediscover your resilience and cultivate your relationship with God. May you remember the joy we feel in community at Kitchissippi, and that we will enjoy again someday in the near future. May you rejoice in this holy time.

Advent blessings,
Rev. Jenni

Chair of Council

Greetings,

This time last year I was commenting on how we need to pause from the frenetic pace of the world to celebrate the birth, meaning and wonderment of Jesus. This year is so different but, in many respects, exactly the same. While the presence of the covid-19 pandemic has changed some things for many, it has changed many things, if not everything, for some. But in the face of change, our roots in our faith keep us hopeful and resolute to do, and be, the best that we can.

As a congregation, Kitchissippi has been very fortunate to partner with Rideau Park UC for the livestreaming of Sunday morning worship services. Rev. Jenni's ministry in those services has been a blessing, as has the leadership of Kirsten, Gavan and Diana in meeting the needs of KUC through many different avenues. And you, as a congregation, have also displayed great resilience by continuing to participate in the myriad of activities which have carried on. We have been blessed with opportunities for connection via technology, and our staff and volunteers have ensured that members of the congregation who are less technically oriented have not been left behind.

With the prospect of a vaccine sometime in 2021, we have a real sense of optimism. There is a light guiding us through this dark chapter. Although many of us will not be able to spend time with family and friends outside of our immediate households, and so much of what we associate with celebrating Christmas will be different this year, the light remains. As our theme for Advent tells us, we are on the Threshold – of a new chapter, of the coming of the Messiah into our hearts again, of new hope for better times with the covid-19 pandemic under control.

As always, the birth of the Christ child brings us the hope, love, peace and joy which pass human understanding. May these blessings of Christmas shine through the veil of the pandemic and remain with you and yours every day, all year long.

Faith Formation

Let it snow!

Ok, the first real blanket of snow may melt soon, but it's still nice to have it to herald the beginning of Advent!

We are thinking about winter and all the fun to be had in the snow. We're also thinking of Christmas and wondering what new traditions your family will be making in this unusual year. We are looking forward to using the tiny Advent wreath from Kitchissippi. Since all of our decorations are far away at our grandparents' house, we'll make our own from salt dough. We're going to put our tree outside with birdseed on it. We are sending some gifts by mail and other gifts are by shopping locally, virtually: buying from stores and artisans who are near our loved ones. We're giving (and asking for) donations to food banks and Indigenous centres.

We will be introducing little Rowan to the Christmas story and a Nativity scene. Maybe we will decorate his little wagon or sled with lights and do a one-family carolling walk!

What will you do? Will you have a zoom carol-sing with cousins? Will you try something fun or funny to make it feel like everyone is together if they have to be apart? Hmm... maybe I'll put pictures of Rowan's Aunts and Uncle and cousins and grandparents around the table....

As you count down to Christmas I hope that your family is finding time to care for yourselves, your neighbours, and Creation. These are good ways to also show love for God!

Here is a link to a simple Advent calendar of ideas to try: https://www.united-church.ca/sites/default/files/2020-10/au\_advent-calendar-2020.pdf

Our Faith Formation circle has put together some little Advent kits for young families and hope you'll pick up your mini Advent wreath on Saturday (or email us for a way to get it). We have other fun things to come. Watch your email and the Friday File for more ways to (virtually) gather as we

Wishing you a happy Advent filled with hope, peace, joy, and love.

T'was a Month Before Christmas 2020

This poem was submitted by Arnold Current – author is anonymous

T'was a month before Christmas,
And all through the town,
People wore masks,
That covered their frown.

The frown had begun
Way back in the Spring,
When a global pandemic
Changed everything.

They called it corona,
But unlike the beer,
It didn't bring good times,
It didn't bring cheer.

Contagious and deadly,
This virus spread fast,
Like a wildfire that starts
When fueled by gas.

Airplanes were grounded,
Travel was banned.
Borders were closed
Across air, sea and land.

As the world entered lockdown
To flatten the curve,
The economy halted,
And folks lost their verve.

From March to July
We rode the first wave,
People stayed home,
They tried to behave.

When summer emerged
The lockdown was lifted.
But away from caution,
Many folks drifted.

Now it's November
And cases are spiking,
Wave two has arrived,
Much to our disliking.

Frontline workers,
Doctors and nurses,
Try to save people,
From riding in hearses.

This virus is awful,
This COVID-19.
There isn't a cure.
There is no vaccine.
It's true that this year
Has had sadness a plenty,
We'll never forget
The year 2020.

And just 'round the corner -
The holiday season,
But why be merry?
Is there even one reason?

To decorate the house
And put up the tree,
When no one will see it,
No-one but me.

But outside my window
The snow gently falls,
And I think to myself,
Let's deck the halls!

So, I gather the ribbon,
The garland and bows,
As I play those old carols,
My happiness grows.

Christmas ain't cancelled
And neither is hope.
If we lean on each other,
I know we can cope 😊
